

SUMMARY

The present invention concerns a vapor retarder for indoor sealing of buildings, especially roof structures, with at least one barrier layer (1) retarding passage of moisture vapor, especially water vapor, with the vapor retarder also having an electromagnetic-field- (EMF)-shielding layer (EMF layer) (2).